Chuckanut Bay Community Association Quarterly Newsletter January 2011 Volume 21, No.1

General Meeting Wednesday, January 5th, Chuckanut Fire Hall 7:30 PM

Don't Miss an Evening with the South Whatcom Fire Authority Chief, Dave Ralston, and Board of Commissioners member, Lynn Trzynka

Chief Ralston will discuss the changes that have occurred since the SWFA was formed in 2009, and how this has affected response times and other emergency services in the Chuckanut area. This includes discussing operations, what we can expect in 2011, and much more. He'll also be available to answer any questions that community members may have.

Also in attendance will be Lynn Trzynka, our Fire Commissioner for SWFA. She will also be providing the community with an overview of the progress of the Fire Authority. If you have questions you would like answered, please email them to her beforehand at lynntrzynka@yahoo.com.

Since emergency preparedness is a priority for our entire community, we highly encourage you to attend this informative evening. So come on by!

President's Message

At the November executive board meeting, we considered whether our newsletter should have a clearly defined editorial policy. This question was prompted by contact from several members of our community regarding what appeared [to them] to be an increasing politicization of the newsletter.

Since it is our goal to focus on issues which are common to all residents of the community, i.e. fire protection, law enforcement and emergency preparedness, and to avoid potentially divisive issues, it was resolved that there should be an editorial policy, and that, stated simply, it should be TO INFORM RATHER THAN TO PERSUADE.

As an example of this policy, the newsletter will publish basic information -- time, location and simple description -- regarding public meetings that may be of interest to our community. The goal will be to make useful information available to our community, but to avoid using the newsletter as a platform for any potentially divisive point of view.

Also discussed was the rationale for dues-paying membership in the Association. What do we actually receive from our all-volunteer Association that is worth the modest annual dues? Some of the benefits mentioned were:

1. Ongoing support of and liaison with our firefighters and medical aid services.
2. Quarterly programs that speak to our quality of life in the Chuckanut community, most recently the Washington State Patrol and Red Cross; coming up in January, Fire Chief Dave Ralston along with Lynn Trzynka, Chuckanut Commissioner for the South Whatcom Fire Authority.
3. The quarterly newsletter.
4. Welcoming of new residents.
5. Neighborhood address and phone directory.
6. Ongoing development of the 'pod' system, with enhanced communication among residents and facilitation of mutual assistance in emergencies.
7. Access to our brand new community website, the prototype for which is viewable at www.chuckanutcommunity.org.

I encourage you to support the Association by submitting your dues -- $24.00 per family or $12.00 per single member household -- in the return envelope provided with the hard copy of this newsletter.

Once again, your comments and feedback are invited.

From Your Editor

You will find the Dues / Volunteer envelope in this issue. The Association still needs a few Pod Captains to cover our community. They provide a communications link among Pod Members (residents), and the Community, particularly in time of emergencies such as rock slides, fire, earthquake etc. Volunteers should have email access and have Chuckanut as their primary residence. We are also still looking for a volunteer to help organize our Archives.

Please consider volunteering.

South Whatcom Fire Authority Regular Meeting December 8, 2010

The South Whatcom Fire Authority Board held their regular meeting December 8. The bulk of the meeting consisted of various reports from Chief Ralston including housing, the budget, and the termination letter the county has sent the City of Bellingham regarding EMS service the county and city operate together. The letter was sent in case the city and county aren't able to resolve differences within the three year window. It was essentially a notification to re-negotiate. In the interim, service continues.

Regarding the budget, Chief Ralston reported $766,885 revenues and $758,887 expenditures remaining for 2010. Revenues expected for 2011 are $2,400,000 with $1,822,000 operating expense. The balance will be for cash and capital reserves. Revenues are up significantly in line with costs projected when the district was formed.

The Chief also reported on the housing of firemen in the various areas of the district. Securing a place to house firefighters in the Chuckanut area is a priority.

Under Strategic Planning, Chief Ralston reported that the district is endeavoring to get automatic aid from the City of Bellingham. Currently, we have "mutual aid" which has to be summoned, it is not automatic. He said that is key to the Chuckanut area, since a critical component of the firefighting capability is response time.

There will be a volunteer firemen recognition banquet March 25, 2011, at the Lakeway Best Western. Chief Ralston mentioned that in the past the Chuckanut group paid for the firefighters' spouse or girlfriend to attend the recognition banquet. The group may wish to continue this practice.

SUPPORTING OUR FIREFIGHTERS

How could or should the CBCA relate to our individual volunteer firefighters, now that we no longer have responsibility for providing or overseeing equipment and facilities?

As we discussed this question at the November board meeting, we realized that one of our experienced volunteers, Steve Mitchell, was on duty in the fire hall. We invited him to sit in on the meeting and speak to this issue.

Steve made it clear that the current volunteers felt somewhat cut off from engagement with the local community which they had enjoyed in previous years. Although Steve assured us that ongoing professional support of the new fire district was a great improvement, and that coverage by fire personnel was as good or better than it had been before the amalgamation of the districts, he did say that the contact with the local residents was missed by the volunteers.

When asked what the Association could do for the firefighters, Steve pointed out that they were in process of improving the living quarters and that we could help by providing additional financial support for the upgrade, which was to include, for example, shelving to hold the historical memorabilia of our fire hall, frames for past awards and pictures, refreshing of paint and other minor improvements. In addition, Steve said that small items, such as food, T-shirts, warm socks, etc. were valued, since their significance as tokens of appreciation were as meaningful as the actual items themselves.

The board voted to budget $1020 for materials to support the firefighters in making their improvements, plus another $500 for gifts of food and small items over the coming year. It was noted that, for the past two years, no direct financial support had been given to the firefighters by the Association.

In addition to Steve, three other volunteers -- Nick Ackerman, Ryan Hull and Vicki Hsueh -- live close to our area and focus mainly on Chuckanut. As President of our Association, I will paraphrase another President thusly: "Ask not what your firefighters can do for you, ask what you can do for your firefighters." These are the people who will be there if your home catches fire; they will be first on the scene of your medical emergency. They deserve your utmost support and consideration.

I invite you, the members of our community, to step forward and contact your Executive Board with offers of support. Doesn't have to be much -- how about a box of cookies for the holidays? A wool cap? A DVD for the volunteers to watch while they're on duty at the Fire Hall?

It is the demonstration of widespread support that is most important.
